

Introduce your daughter to women in STEM!

Please join Boolean Girl for our Free online STEM Ambassador series to meet women from around the country who are working in STEM fields. Girls (3rd-8th grade) will have an opportunity to hear from women STEM professionals and ask them questions about their career and education. We have upcoming speakers who have designed playgrounds, worked in a shark tank, invented new tools to help doctors and patients, and much more.

For more information about upcoming speakers and how to register, please visit: <https://booleangirl.org/ambassador/>

Boolean Girl, a nonprofit founded in 2014, is educating girls to code, build, invent and animate. We provide girls-only and co-ed classes, camps, and online education, teaching coding, and engineering in an inclusive, welcoming environment.
